For the last two years, the five Belgian Scout & Guides Associations have been preparing for the ultimate Centenary of Scouting party- JAMbe This event to be held April 29, will see around 90,000 Belgian Scouts and Guides take to the streets of Brussels to officially mark the beginning of the country's 2007 celebrations.

The action-packed programme will see street artists and music groups bring the festival to the entire city, as well as dancing, eating and workshops on Scouting, Many of the Scouts and Guides at the JAMbe will also be participating in one of the Centenary Camps that are taking place on the outskirts of the city as part of the event.

Hundreds of volunteers have given a great deal of time and effort to organise what is sure to be a great weekend, and make the most of Scouting's Centenary - thank you to all involved.
