Earth Hour

At 8.30pm on March 28, 2009, cities across the world will turn off their lights for just one hour – Earth Hour™ – to show that it's possible to take action on global warming. Switching off is a simple action that can make a difference and it sends a powerful message that the people of the world care about the future of the planet.

We need you to help us make it happen.

What can you do?

1. Sign up to Earth Hour by visiting www.earthhour.org and commit to turning off your lights on March 28 from 8.30pm to 9.30pm. We will send you all the information you need to make Earth Hour happen at home and at work (and to cut your energy bills in the long term). It's free to take part.
2. Take appliances off standby; unplug any appliances – mobile phone charger, TV, microwave, MP3 player, computer monitor, printer – that are not being used and are on standby.
Appliances left on standby account for up to 10% of the average household's electricity use.
3. Spread the word about Earth Hour and involve your friends, family and workmates. Get them to make the commitment at www.earthhour.org to turn off their lights at 8.30pm Saturday March 28, 2009.
4. Switch to Green Power Contact your power company today and ask them about their Green Power products or go to the WWF website in your country for more information.
